

whispering pines cropping photos forms bonds

Excellent guidance of Joyce Mabry allowed the Whispering Pines staff to unite together and capture each significant moment with a flash and snap of a camera. Adobe InDesign CS6 and Adobe Photoshop Elements aided the staff with editing and organizing every photo. Whispering Pines members worked relentlessly to learn how to crop photos, proof student names, and choose the most suitable pictures for each page spread. Deadlines added a daunting pressure on the staff to have pages complete on time, but these time constraints formed a united force that got the job done.

The staff's determined efforts were shown at the 2018 Mississippi Community and Junior College Press Association yearbook competition. The Whispering Pines' 2018 yearbook "Connect" won first place in Cover Division, first place in Theme Division, first place in Structure Division, first place in Typography Division, and first place in Copy Division, for an overall win of first place at the competition. The staff remained motivated to produce an even better yearbook.

by Madison VanNess

above: Macy Booty, co-editor; Morgan Windham, Jasmine Haynes, Madison Newman, Madison VanNess, copy editor; Charlie- Anne Steen; Morgan Michelle Lawrence; second row: Kimberly San, co-editor; Isaiah Gaines, Kaitlyn McCarlie, editor; and Megan White Not pictured Eva Luter and Joyce Mabry, advisor

top: Eva Luter, co-editor; Kimberly San, co-editor; and Kaitlyn McCarlie, editor, proof copy for the yearbook; above: Macy Booty and Madison VanNess plan the yearbook layout.